From: Financial Times Briefing <FT@news-alerts.ft.com>
To: Barak barak <Ehbarak1@gmail.com>
CC:
Date: Tue, 3/8/2016 9:31:28 AM
Subject: In today's FT: EU and Turkey close in on migrant deal...

Tuesday March 8 2016

UK HOMEPAGE

EU and Turkey close in on migrant deal

Hopes next summit will finalise plan that would return refugees in exchange for sweeteners to Ankara

BoE moves to protect banks if UK votes out

Brexit contingency plan reinforces Osborne's warning over turmoil in financial markets

Bloomberg says he will not run in 2016

Former mayor abandons third-party campaign with swipe at Trump and Cruz

US HOMEPAGE

New rules take toll on Wall St bonuses

Banks are adapting to mass of regulations by hiring more staff

GCHQ head seeks cyber co-operation

Robert Hannigan calls for sharing of ideas in a less highly-charged atmosphere

Gloomy mood dominates on Asia bourses

Chinese stocks hit by grim export data while Japanese shares slide despite upward GDP revision

EUROPE HOMEPAGE

EU seeks fresh reforms for Greek bailout

Eurogroup sends monitors back to Athens amid tussle with IMF over €86bn rescue

Migration wrecking ball or silver bullet?

Draft deal is the most ambitious, and politically explosive, plan to solve EU refugee crisis

Apple loses ebook conspiracy case

US Supreme Court rejects tech group's push for an appeal

ASIA HOMEPAGE

Japan data revision trims GDP fall in Q4

Still-gloomy numbers highlight lack of economic momentum

Oil and iron ore surge points to new mood

Traders bet that the worst of the 20-month commodity rout is over

Fed's Fischer: inflation is 'stirring'

Vice-chairman cites evidence of long-awaited rise amid strong jobs market

MARKETS

Banking standards report has more questions than answers

Debut review shows little progress on its central task of formulating a set of principles

S&P 500 extends winning run to fifth day

Brent crude regains $40 a barrel level

Energy sector stands out as oil extends rebound

Materials sector is firmer on brighter outlook for the Chinese economy

Mitie tumbles amid profit warning fears

UK stocks pare losses on a continued rally for mining shares

How low can Mario Draghi go to lift the eurozone?

Stimulus package seen as near certainty when ECB chiefs meet but available options have drawbacks

WORLD NEWS

Cyprus lauded on exit from €10bn bailout

EU and IMF hail success story as island survives tough reforms to return to growth

Air strike kills 150 al-Shabaab militants in Somalia, US says

Islamist fighters at training camp were planning a large-scale attack, Pentagon says

EU treads carefully over Turkey's media crackdown

Leaders careful not to jeopardise deal with Ankara on migration

Neo-Nazi party makes an electoral breakthrough in Slovakia

Far-right group elected to parliament and is now the fifth most-popular party

Financing for UK care home industry is ‘completely unsuitable’

University of Manchester questions whether private equity model works for elderly care

COMPANIES NEWS

Tears in Tokyo as old rules of business shift

Japan in uncharted demographic territory as next generation of company founders is sought

Vale and Fortescue forge iron ore pact

Venture aimed at boosting miners’ share in key market of China

BHS seeks to offload pension deficit worth £571m

Cost of paying an insurance company to assume obligations for pensioners has risen £57m since 2012

Microsoft takes step to move beyond Windows operating system

CEO Satya Nadella will put one of its main products on the open source Linux system for first time

ComScore plunges after accounting review announced

Shares in US media measurement company down more than 33%

COMMENT

US exchanges: the ‘speed bump’ battle

Trading venue IEX is seeking to become an exchange, prompting a debate over equity market fairness

A blow to Britain’s plan for nuclear renaissance

A shock resignation makes it harder to defend the Hinkley Point project

ECB’s greatest risk is the danger of doing nothing

The eurozone needs be given further monetary stimulus this week

Businesses will lose heart over John Longworth’s exit

Big and small businesses are reluctant to take sides in acrimonious debate

China and the US need to cause North Korea real pain

But we should not expect Pyongyang to give up its nuclear weapons anytime soon

MANAGEMENT

Scrap paintball, add childcare

If you want more senior female staff, a formal change of corporate culture is required

Digital world offers opportunities to break the job mould

Flexibility is attractive for women with MBAs

The automated future is nothing to fear — it belongs to women

Females are reshaping the workplace into one steeped in collaboration

When female tech pioneers were the future

Women were not always detached from computing

Dame ‘Steve’ Shirley: ‘Now there’s nothing holding women back’

The views of the computing pioneer will annoy some, but they are difficult to ignore

Feedback

Manage portfolio

Subscribe to the FT

Follow the FT

Unsubscribe | My Account | RSS | Privacy Policy | About Us | Help

© THE FINANCIAL TIMES LTD 2016

You have received this email because you have signed up from the NBE preference page.
This email was sent by a company owned by Financial Times Group Limited (FT Group), registered office at Number One Southwark Bridge, London SE1 9HL.
Registered in England and Wales with company number 879531.